Eva's

CLASSICS REIMAGINED

Hidden off the streets of Melbourne, Eva's embodies the enigmatic character of the leading lady Eva Erdi. Known for her welcoming nature, elegant flair and appreciation of a good martini.

All day dining with an emphasis on local and seasonal produce. Eva's redefines modern Australian cuisine. Executive Head Chef Prem Rasineni acts as the backbone to the Eva's team.

The palette pays homage to the 1950's, with rich terracotta and deep autumn greens that are evocative of a bygone era. Gold trims, mood lighting & textured surfaces, make a subtle nod to the Erdi legacy, evoking quality and the appreciation for good food shared with good company.

BOOMROOM BOXING

Open to Melburnians and hotel guests alike, BoomRoom Boxing offers the ultimate feel-good workout. Enjoy 30 minutes of high-intensity group boxing and strength conditioning classes set to heart-pumping beats.

The studio boasts modern and chic interiors, setting the tone for a vibrant atmosphere, meaning each BoomRoom Boxing class will elevate and inspire.

Hotel guests can book your sessions using the in-room digital concierge system at a reduced price.

In addition to the BoomRoom Boxing studio, the hotel also offers guests complimentary use of our 6:00am - 9:00pm gym on Level 1, which is equipped with state-of-the-art weight training and cardio machines.

SURROUNDED BY STREET ART

Situated along side the intriguing laneway entrance, is a collaboration of new world and old school graffiti artists Lisa King & Vexta.

From heights, the largest art work created by Cam Scale is situated on a 40m high by 10m wide wall on Loudon Place, can be viewed from adjacent rooms as well as Swanston Street. The mural depicts an image of Dr Leslie Erdi OAM, who with his wife Eva were much-loved figures within the hotel and wider community.

Les was a well-known philanthropist and generously gave to a list of notable institutions across Melbourne. The mural pays homage to Les' connection to the hotel, his impact on the community and remembers him as the heart and soul of Erdi Group.
